SPCA OPERATIONS MANAGER

Here's Tracy Dunn, the SPCAs Operations Manager.

The SPCA in Auckland employs about 60 full-time staff and is supported by volunteers who kindly donate their time to help our animals.

SPCA Operations Manager

Tracy's tip for the job...

Having a knowledge of dog breeds and behaviour helps greatly. Having a sense of humour, patience and the ability to see situations from all sides is also very important. Treat every day as a new day and do not dwell on what you cannot change.

Qualifications

A lengthy career in customer service and management positions.

The Job and Where to Work

Overseeing the care of all dogs, cats in the re-homing area, and large animals at the village. Assessing dogs for rehoming and dog training. Managing staffing of all areas and 'mucking in' where required. Helping to educate visitors in the proper way to care for animals.

Places to work are SPCA's and Rescue Shelters throughout NZ and the world, and Animal Control.

The Best Part

Hearing back from owners who love the animals they have adopted and coming to work each day to 'wagging tails' and 'Meows' knowing that I really do make a difference.

The Worst Part

Frustration at not being able to change some things especially the animal cruelty.
